THE distraught family of a mum-of-four who was bludgeoned to death in her own home have been left reeling after her ashes were stolen during a house burglary.

A ceramic pot containing the remains of Claire Parrish (37), who died from internal bleeding caused by blunt force trauma sustained during an assault at her home in Copshall Close on July 15 this year, was taken from her sister's house in Gibb Croft on Friday.

Speaking to the Star this week, Claire's sister Ebony said the family had already "suffered enough" and made an emotional plea for the thief to return the ashes.

"The whole family is sickened that someone should rob us of the last remains of a loved one who died in such appalling circumstances," she said.

"We are still struggling to come to terms with losing Claire in such a tragic way and now she has been taken from us again."

Ms Parrish had returned home shortly before midnight on Friday to find a television set and the pot – which was decorated with a red and white floral pattern – missing.

"I knew something was wrong as soon as I walked in," she said.

Father to set up fund to help burns victims in memory of family he lost in house blaze

A TRUST fund is to be set up in memory of the mother and five children who lost their lives in the Barn Mead house fire.

In an emotional speech at a special interfaith memorial service organised and held at Princess Alexandra Hospital, Dr Abdul Shakoor – the sole survivor of the tragedy – thanked “from the depths of my heart” all those who had supported him since losing his family.

Dr Sabah Usmani (41) and children Hira (12), Sohaib (11), Muneeb (9) and Rayyan (6) died following the blaze in the early hours of October 15. Three-year-old Maheen lost her fight for life in hospital three days later.

The service at PAH was held the day after the family were laid to rest at Parndon Wood Cemetery. It was led by hospital chaplain Christine Hawkins and attended by more than 100 staff from the hospital, where Dr Shakoor works as an endocrinologist.

Addressing the service, Dr Shakoor said: “In this very hard time for me and my family, every member of the community, irrespective of their faith, share my grief and have provided me with moral support without which it would not be possible for me to go on.

“This incident has also provided me and my family an opportunity to form an emotional bond with many members of the community, working towards a common grief and creating a more tolerant society and peaceful place to live in.”

Dr Shakoor and other family members were invited to light six candles in memory of each of the victims.

Reading a passage from the Quran which he said had brought him and his family great solace since the tragedy, Dr Shakoor expressed his special gratitude to members of all the emergency services involved in taking care of him and his family, and to his work colleagues for their ongoing emotional and practical support.

“I would like to take this opportunity to especially thank the Princess Alexandra Trust for setting up the Shakoor family fund. This is another way the hospital have shown their generosity, thoughtfulness and kindness and I am grateful to all the people who have contributed.

“I would like to say that I have very limited personal needs, however, and feel we must work together so that something good can come out of the tragedy that has befallen my family and me.

“After much thought I have decided to set up a trust in the memory of my wife and my children which will help burns victims. I would request the community to join my hands in this noble cause.”

Among those who attended the hour-long service were hospital chief executive Melanie Walker and Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

Ms Walker said: “The pain is unimaginable to all of us who have never been in that position. In the very depths of a very, very bleak place we have to find something to take us forwards.

“I know that for every one here today there are the same amount, if not more, who wanted to be here but are out doing what they do best which is caring for people. That is what Dr Shakoor and his family saw on that terrible night.

“I am proud to be able to say from everybody on behalf of the trust, and indeed the wider NHS, to Dr Shakoor and his family that we are here to support you as friends and as colleagues.

“I can’t add to what Dr Shakoor said, I am humbled by how he spoke and I want to extend our support and care and make sure he knows that we will all do what we can to help him get through this.”

Police said this week their investigations into the cause of the blaze were ongoing.

No council U-turn on advice service

COUNCIL leader Mark Wilkinson this week rejected a plea by the trustees of Harlow’s Welfare Rights & Advice Service to review the decision to pull the plug on funding of the service.

HWRA was forced to close to new clients last week after the authority terminated its contract with the service and cut the telephone lines.

But as staff continued to work around the clock to complete outstanding casework for hundreds of existing clients, trustees remained hopeful the council would reconsider its position and give the organisation more time to pay back the £120,000-plus it owes to the authority.

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

Les Coben, acting chairman of trustees, said he believed councillors had been given misleading information.

“We believe that inaccurate advice and other factors may have caused councillors to be given a misleading impression of HWRA’s position and that it is, therefore, still possible for the council to review the decision,” he said.

“Mark Wilkinson’s quote in last week’s Star that HWRA owed the council more than the annual payment to the service of £120,000 is misleading in that readers may assume the figure is well above this. In fact it is approximately £122,000.

“HWRA offered to pay £60,000 of this on October 15 with a further £30,000 to be paid in December and the rest the following year. Unfortunately the council did not accept this installment arrangement.”

But Cllr Wilkinson said the authority would not be reviewing its decision and now planned to invite tenders for a replacement service as soon as possible.

“It is very disappointing that after trying so hard to help HWRA the council has had to terminate the contract to protect the council’s position,” he said.

“The process to invite tenders for a new service will be launched soon and the council will continue to help those it can in the interim.”

A KIND-hearted five-year-old is preparing to sacrifice her flowing locks to help seriously ill youngsters.

Shelby Paterson, of Perry Spring, Harlow, will have her hair cut for the first time and donate her tresses – currently long enough to sit on – to the Little Princess Trust, a charity providing wigs for children who have lost their own hair through cancer treatment.

The Potter Street Primary pupil, who has only ever had her fringe trimmed before, is also hoping to raise over £500 in sponsorship money for the Rainbow Trust, which supports families with a child suffering a life-limiting illness.

Mum Christine said Shelby, who will have her hair cut during a school assembly next week, was excited about getting a new look to help sick children.

"Her hair is just getting far too long to manage any more so we decided together that it was finally time for the chop," she explained. "I then had the idea of making it a fundraising event and donating the hair to help make wigs and Shelby was all for it. "Since then things have just escalated. The school have been absolutely brilliant and were only too keen to host the hair cutting, and we have also had people donating bits for a raffle so will also have that going on during the assembly."

Christine, who has lost both her parents and father-in-law to cancer as well as a number of family friends, and husband Colin said they could not be prouder of their daughter.

"We are just bursting with pride at how keen she is to do this in order to help other children," she said. "I have sobbed my heart out reading some of the comments of support we have received so far – everyone has been so nice."

Christine added: "Hopefully Shelby's big charity hair cut will also raise awareness for the The Little Princess Trust and the Rainbow Trust, which are both such fantastic charities, and inspire other people to come up with their own fundraising events and ideas.

"It doesn't take much and really does feel wonderful to be doing your bit."

Sign up now for a Santa fun run

RED suits and white beards will be the running gear of choice when St Clare Hospice holds its popular Santa Run next month.

Registration for the event, now in its fourth year, has opened with organisers hoping to sign up more than 300 Santas to take part.

In previous years the run has taken place around Harlow Town Park but this year it will follow a 4k route around the grounds of the Secret Nuclear Bunker at Kelvedon Hatch near Brentwood.

Event fundraiser Grace Clutton said: "The Secret Nuclear Bunker will provide a brilliant course for our Santas. It is suitable for all the family and with the option of a few obstacles for those wanting a challenge."

Entry to the run, which takes place on Sunday, December 9, costs £15 for adults and includes a free Santa suit. The fee for children is £5 and they will receive a free Santa hat.

For more information or to download a registration form, visit www.stclarehospice.org.uk.

Groups get a share of community cash

TWO Harlow groups are celebrating after receiving a total of £1,600 between them from the Co-operative Membership Community Fund.

Harlow Citizens Advice Bureau was awarded £1,100 for the refurbishment of a training room for new volunteers, while Harlow Neighbourhood Watch was given £500 to go towards revamping their website.

Paul Wadley, secretary of Harlow Neighbourhood Watch said: "We are fairly reliant on Essex Police, who give us an annual £500. To then receive a £500 grant is a very big amount for us.

"We intend to use it to make our website into a tool to help and support people wishing to start their own neighbour watch schemes."

The Co-operative Membership Community Fund was created by members of the Co-operative group who choose to donate all, or part of, their payments to the scheme.

Lottery winners

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, October 26 is ticket holder 252577, who lives in Epping

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 427579, who lives in Harlow.

Entries flood in for gallery's postcard art auction

ALMOST 400 postcards now cover the walls of a Harlow art gallery after hundreds put pen to paper in aid of a charity appeal.

After receiving an overwhelming response to its Open Postcard exhibition, the Gatehouse Gallery in East Gates has now displayed them for public viewing.

The charitable initiative is raising funds for St Clare Hospice at Hastingwood and arts association ACAVA which subsidises the group's studio by selling the postcards in a silent auction.

Bidding opens tomorrow (Friday), with a live auction at the gallery for the most popular postcards taking place from 6pm on Saturday, November 17.

"It is the first time we have ever done anything like this and the response has been beyond all expectations," said marketing and social media co-ordinator Claire Jones. "We have already had several bids on postcards.

"There were no requirements as to who could enter and it was open for everyone which is probably why it has done so well."

Co-organiser Amanda Westbury said entries had come from far and wide.

"Some postcards have been designed by local and international artists, a Big Brother winner and even Harlow MP Robert Halfon has submitted an entry," she said.

"Essentially, the event is to raise money for our chosen charities, raise awareness for us and to get people being part of something bigger. Hopefully we will continue to get a good response during the auction, and be able to look into making this an annual tradition."

For more information about the live auction, visit either of the Gatehouse Galleries in West Gate and East Gate.

Lawyer back in court over McCann claims

A RETIRED lawyer from Harlow is facing the threat of a jail sentence for contempt of court following his latest run-in with the parents of missing schoolgirl Madeleine McCann.

Tony Bennett (65), of Chippingfield, Old Harlow, has been accused of multiple breaches of formal undertakings he signed in November 2009 in which he agreed to stop making allegations that Madeleine's parents – Kate and Gerry McCann – were involved in covering up their daughter's death in 2007.

Three-year-old Madeleine went missing in May 2007 from an apartment complex in Praia da Luz, Portugal, where her parents had been holidaying with friends.

The McCanns believe their daughter was kidnapped and have mounted a high-profile campaign in a bid to find her. But despite widespread investigations by both the Portuguese and British police, no traces of her have been found.

In 2008 Mr Bennett published a controversial book – What Really Happened to

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Madeleine McCann – in which he made a number of allegations relating to the case.

Last Wednesday lawyers acting for the McCanns went to the High Court in London to argue that Mr Bennett had persisted in spreading false allegations against them both online and in print and as a result they were now seeking his imprisonment – or other punishment – for alleged contempt of court.

For his part, Mr Bennett is asking the court to vary the undertakings he gave in 2009 so he can publish what he claims is “credible evidence” that Madeleine died in the holiday apartment, that her parents have covered this up and have lied about matters connected to her reported disappearance.

The court heard the McCanns denied there was any truth in any of the allegations which Mr Bennett “wishes to be free to make” and argued that his continued publication of “numerous grave and actionable libels” against them amounted to harassment.

Mr Justice Tugendhat underlined the vital importance of court orders and undertakings being obeyed and directed that the couple's case against Mr Bennett should be heard “as soon as practicable”.

Speaking to the Star this week, Mr Bennett vowed to fight for his right to free speech and said he believed he had “valid” arguments for his defence.

“Britain's libel laws are so oppressive that I had no alternative but to agree to the terms of the formal undertakings set out by the McCanns' lawyers in November 2009,” he said.

“Of the 16 undertakings I signed there are only three which have been broken. I want to make it absolutely clear that I have never claimed the McCanns killed or were responsible for Madeleine's death.”

He added: “I believe that in a country where freedom of speech is valued so highly I should have the right to publish what I believe to be credible evidence about what happened to Madeleine.”

A COMBINED force of police, fire, St John Ambulance and council representatives were out and about in Harlow over the weekend to encourage people to enjoy Bonfire Night in safety. As part of the Essex Police 'Bang Out of Order' campaign, the team stationed themselves in the town centre on Saturday and Sunday to offer shoppers and children advice on how to stay safe and respect other people's privacy and property during the celebrations. They also handed out posters to residents not wanting to be disturbed by trick or treat callers during last night's Hallowe'en activities and gave out information on who to call with concerns regarding anti-social behaviour.

Neighbourhood police inspector Anna Granger said the team had received a really good response. “Everyone, particularly children, seemed to really engage with the advice we were giving,” she said. “A lot of older members of the community also said they appreciated what we were doing and felt safer as a result.”

Road closure during Town Park fireworks

THOUSANDS of people are expected to head to the Showground in Harlow Town Park on Sunday for the annual free fireworks spectacular.

Harlow Council chairwoman Maggie Hulcoop will light the bonfire 6.45pm. The spectacular 20-minute fireworks display is due to start at 7pm.

In addition to the pyrotechnics there will be a funfair and refreshment stalls on site.

The Heart FM roadshow will be providing live music from 6pm while the stars of this year's Playhouse pantomime will also be making an appearance to entertain the crowd.

Drivers are advised that the section of Fifth Avenue between the Sainsbury's roundabout and Edinburgh Way will be closed to through traffic from 6-9pm for safety reasons due to the large number of spectators expected to arrive on foot.

Limited free parking for Blue Badge holders will be available on the Showground up to 6pm. All other drivers should use the town centre car parks.

Parents urged to keep their options open in primary school applications PARENTS are being encouraged to use all the online services at their disposal when looking for the right primary school for their children.

Essex County Council's admissions website now includes a comprehensive database of schools, links to Ofsted reports, information on admissions criteria and details of catchment areas to help parents ensure their child gets the best start in life.

Application dates for primary school places for the September 2013 intake have now been set. Parents and carers of children born between September 1, 2008 and August 31, 2009 inclusive must apply between November 5 and January 15 next year.

County councillor Stephen Castle, cabinet member for education said: “Applying for the first school for your child can be a daunting process. The website aims to provide you with the tools you need to make an informed application.”

“Last year we were able to provide most parents with their preferred school but schools can become oversubscribed so it is very important for parents to select more than one preference and keep their options open.”

Online applications can be made via the website at www.essex.gov.uk/admissions.

Flat blaze mum's despair at 'hotel for the homeless'

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A PREGNANT mum-of-one left homeless after fire ripped through her council flat is pleading with the authority to find her and her four-year-old son "safe" accommodation.

Leila Abdullah-Cox (39) and son Devin have been staying in a double room at the Oasis Hotel, in Hart Road, since the blaze at their Purford Green home more than five weeks ago.

Miss Abdullah-Cox, who is seven months pregnant, said she fears for their safety while staying at the hotel, which is used by the authority as temporary accommodation for homeless residents.

"We are extremely desperate now," Leila told the Star. "I will take anything just to get out of this place. It is dirty and full of people with drug and alcohol problems."

"You can constantly smell marijuana in the halls and we have people knocking on our door at all hours of the night asking for cigarettes and drugs. We also don't have any cooking facilities and are struggling to afford to eat, while the hotel is too far away from Devin's pre-school for him to be able to attend."

"On top of that I have now been diagnosed with gestational diabetes, meaning I need to take extra care of myself for the baby's sake. But I am starting to suffer anxiety attacks at the thought of still being here when the baby is born. It really is no place for any child."

Rod Truan, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for housing, said the situation would be reviewed at the end of this month if Leila and her son had still not been re-housed.

"As Ms Abdullah-Cox's previous property is extensively smoke and fire damaged it was agreed with her that the family will be re-housed permanently in a like-for-like property," he said. "The family is in temporary accommodation while we wait for a two-bed first floor flat to become available."

"We appreciate that this is frustrating for Ms Cox as generally there is a lack of two bedroom properties which become available to re-let. We are in regular contact with her and if a property has not become available by the end of November council housing managers will review the situation."

Hotel manager Mazhar Khan said he was "unaware" of any of the problems of which Miss Abdullah-Cox complained.

"I am very sorry for the circumstances this lady finds herself in but must urge her to report any trouble with other residents to us or, in the case of illegal drug misuse, to the police," he said.

"We have a zero-tolerance policy towards drugs and anti-social behaviour and as far as we know do not have a problem with them."

"However, if the situation is believed to be otherwise we would urge a complaint to be made so we can address it."

RACY ramblers who raised more than £5,000 to buy equipment for a school for pupils with special needs enjoyed a morning testing out items purchased with their donation.

Members of the Harlow Walking Group shed their normal rambling gear and posed naked for a series of photographs which were then used in a fundraising calendar.

Some 1,000 copies were printed and sold, with the proceeds going to Harlow Fields School and College in Tendring Road.

Calendar stars cover up for visit to school

The school used the money to buy equipment designed to aid and improve pupils' communication skills and then invited the ramblers to an open morning to meet some of the students they had helped.

"The new equipment has made a really big difference to our pupils' learning so we were keen for the group to be able to come and see the result of their hard work as a way of saying thank you," said headteacher Sue Davis.

"The morning went really well and I think opened their eyes to the many devices available and different ways we are able to support people with special needs these days."

Family's plea for return of assault victim's ashes

"The light in my living room was on and my TV had gone, but I was horrified when I went up to my bedroom to find the pot had been taken."

"They were the only two things stolen, the thieves ignored everything else of value. Why, why, why did they have to take the pot?"

"I just can't get my head around it. They must have realised that it was something very special to me because there was a memorial card and photos of Claire beside it."

She added: "My mum and dad, my two sisters, my brother and me have suffered enough since the tragic death of Claire and we are making a heartfelt plea to the thief to return her ashes as soon as possible."

DCI Stuart Hooper, of Essex

Police Investigations Command, described the theft as "despicable".

"We are working closely with the family and doing everything we can to get the ashes back as quickly as possible," he said.

"If anyone has any information about the burglary or any attempts to sell the pot in suspicious circumstances they should contact the investigation team immediately."

Anyone with information about the burglary or the whereabouts of the pot and ashes should contact DS Patrick Mullan at Harlow CID or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

● Mark Golds (45), from Harlow, has been charged with the murder of Claire Parrish. He is currently being held in custody awaiting the start of his trial in February next year.

MP hails 'fantastic' turnout for biggest-ever jobs fair

MORE than 1,500 jobseekers flocked to Harlow Leisurezone for free career advice at the town's biggest-ever recruitment event.

Friday's jobs fair, organised by MP Robert Halfon, featured more than 85 companies and organisations offering employment advice and job opportunities.

Professional careers advisors were also on hand to check CVs and offer tips on interview techniques, while various seminars ran throughout the day-long event to give those seeking a job the best possible assistance.

Afterwards, Mr Halfon said he had been "overwhelmed" by the response to the event.

"This took six months to organise and it was a team effort with support from Mike Jackson, Ian Hudson and the JobCentre," he told the Star.

"There was a fantastic turnout and if we can get even one more person into employment from this - even though I expect a lot more - then that would be wonderful."

He added: "If we can secure the funding each year I would hope to make it an annual event as the response so far has shown that most people found it beneficial."

Council partner pulls out of 'savings' deal

A COST-saving partnership set up between local authorities in Harlow and Uttlesford has collapsed after being declared "too risky" by council chiefs.

Harlow Council had entered into the revenue and benefits agreement last year in a bid to slash overheads by sharing staff and offices.

It was expected to save the authorities

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

a combined total of £695,000 a year.

But Uttlesford District Council has now pulled out of the deal after cabinet members voted to terminate the agreement because of the "uncertainty" surrounding the Government's forthcoming welfare reforms.

Speaking at a meeting on Thursday, UDC leader Jim Ketteridge said: "We have already looked at what we can do within our own council in terms of savings and, thanks to the team, considerable savings can be made.

"Therefore, it's our opinion that we do formally terminate the partnership."

A report circulated among cabinet members stated that the deal had already swallowed up more than £100,000 from an Improvement East grant fund provided by the Government - but added that pulling out of the partnership would not incur further costs or result in job losses.

The termination is unlikely to result in any direct loss of revenue for Harlow Council either, although the authority had accounted for the cost saving in its forward planning and is now looking at ways to make up the shortfall.

This week Harlow Council leader Mark Wilkinson described the breakdown of the partnership as "regrettable".

"This issue will be formally considered by the cabinet on November 8 but clearly Uttlesford Council has decided to withdraw from the partnership because of concerns about the uncertainty created by the Government's proposed welfare and local government finance reforms," he said.

"Other such partnership proposals around the country have similarly been frustrated.

"It is regrettable that on the one hand the Government is encouraging partnership working to improve efficiency whilst on the other creating uncertainty which undermines the confidence required for such partnership working."

Shop worker seriously hurt while trying to stop thief

A SHOP worker suffered broken ribs and a punctured lung after she was assaulted by a thief.

The man entered the Holland and Barrett store in Broad Walk, Harlow, at 3.45pm last Monday. He picked up a number of items and then left the premises without making any attempt to pay for them.

But as he attempted to cycle away he was confronted by the member of staff, who attempted to stop him. The thief then assaulted her and she fell over a bench seat, suffering serious injuries in the process.

She was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital where she underwent surgery and is now recovering at her home in Hertford.

It is thought that a group of three or four people tried to chase the thief as he remounted his bike and rode away in the direction of the Wetherspoon's pub in West Square.

Detective Constable Ryan Burgess said: "This was an appalling assault in which extreme force was used on the member of staff.

"The assault happened outside the shop in Broad Walk and the thief is believed to have ridden away carrying one of the tubs. He went past Greggs the bakers and across Market Square in the direction of Wetherspoons and was lost at the roundabout for PAH.

"Part of his route is thought to have been through the alleyway adjacent to Cash Concepts, along Bird Cage Walk or past the Citizens Advice Bureau.

"We want to hear from anyone who saw the assault or saw the man falling off his bike or from anyone who saw him riding across Market Square.

"We especially want to hear from a small group of young adults who chased the man for a short time. Anyone who saw this man could have important information about him and we hope they will come forward."

The thief is described as white, aged in his mid 20s, about 6ft tall with greasy brown hair short at the sides and longer on top and of slim to average build. He was wearing a three-quarter length black coat with a hood, blue jeans and white trainers.

Anyone with information should contact the serious crime team at Harlow on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Hedge pledge to keep town tidy

HARLOW Council has embarked on a programme to spruce up the town by launching a £400,000 hedge maintenance project.

Contractors Kier Harlow have already started work on the two-year scheme which will see overgrown shrubs, trees, bushes and hedges cut back in residential areas to keep public footpaths clear.

The initiative is part of a package of measures announced by the council and Kier earlier this year to keep the town looking "green and clean".

Councillor Jon Clempner, portfolio holder for environment, said: "Keeping the streets clean and tidy is a constant priority for our residents and there have been complaints of hedges in residential areas being overgrown.

"This work means our teams can get to litter more easily and uncover dumped rubbish. It also keeps the footpaths safer by removing overgrown and overhanging greenery and it will be easier to keep it maintained and looking neat in the future."

Cost of advice service was never sustainable

SIR, I am sad to see Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice Service in such dire straits (Star, October 18).

Acting chairman Les Coben blames the council. Perversely, he is right in a way because HWRA was a very expensive hangover from the days of socialist largesse, when Harlow's council tax was the highest in the country and Labour's answer to everything was to spend more taxpayers' money.

HWRA gave a free 'Rolls Royce' service using highly paid full-time experts, the cost of which was never going to be sustainable.

Labour poured millions into the service, with constant assurances that each tranche of money would be the last. It was only when HWRA came back for more in 2008 that the then Lib-Lab administration ordered an investigation.

Their recommendations were enacted by the Conservative council in 2010 when HWRA was offered a contract rather than a handout. HWRA held out until the last minute before accepting, which included the council paying their salaries in advance which were to be refunded by HWRA. Failure to make these refunds brought about their current problem.

At recent council meetings Labour still refused to face reality, but time for HWRA expired giving the council no choice but to cancel the contract. It remains to be seen how, or whether, the council can recover any money still owing. This shows Labour is still unable to make hard choices, still unable to grasp the reality of the financial situation we all face and still in denial that it was they who left the nation no money.

Decision a heinous act of crassness

SIR, I read with interest your report of the closure of the Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice Service and thought it must be April Fools Day come early.

How can it be that a Labour-run council believes it a good idea to hasten the closure of such an important service to the residents of Harlow, especially today as they struggle with debt, housing issues and unemployment? Not even the last Conservative administration could achieve such a heinous act of crassness.

Is it any wonder the residents of Harlow despair and ridicule the actions of politicians when it appears they know the price of everything and the value of nothing?

In my view it is now time for this Labour administration to implement its policies that got it elected in May 2012, thereby at least trying to improve the lives of Harlow residents, not destroy them at this very difficult time of cuts to their standard of living and well-being. If they do not then they will pay dearly for their actions at the next local elections, as the last administration learned.

Paramedic had to wait for ambulance to arrive

SIR, I was shocked when, on Friday, we had to get my 91-year-old mother-in-law to hospital as she had previously had a fall and could no longer walk. The GP thought she may have fractured her hip.

In order to get her to hospital we had to get an ambulance. Unfortunately the surgery gave me the number of the doctors' emergency line by mistake so we had a paramedic in a car arrive almost immediately after my call. This was around 3.30pm.

He put in a call for an ambulance to come but as it was not an emergency, others took priority. I was told that there were only two ambulances covering Harlow at that time.

The paramedic could not leave until the ambulance arrived. There were calls for urgent assistance to which he was unable to respond. He was supposed to be off-duty at 7pm but had to wait until 8.40pm when the ambulance finally came. This seems silly as we were able to cope with her needs and there was no need for a medical person to stay. His skills would have been better used elsewhere.

When the ambulancemen arrived they said it was nice to be welcomed with a smile. I can understand how annoyed people could be if things were critical and no ambulances were available. What will happen with more cuts?

Waiting list caused by shortage of volunteers

SIR, I strongly disagree with Neil Coster who complains about Harlow Athletic Club's waiting list and appears to suggest it is failing the Olympic Games legacy by providing no way to bypass the list for a talented 12-year old (Letters, October 25).

For more than 50 years the volunteers of Harlow AC have provided athletic coaching and competition and we intend to do so for many years to come.

Unfortunately, like other clubs, we are temporarily having to operate a waiting list because we can only provide coaching in an appropriate coach-to-athlete ratio. With more volunteers we would be able to take on more athletes.

We would welcome any Star reader with a sports background and an interest in athletics coaching to join the club.

Why did MP support these tax increases?

SIR, I am full of admiration for our MP's campaign to avoid the tax increase in the price of petrol in January, but I am baffled by one thing.

Robert Halfon voted for a 20 per cent VAT increase on the price of petrol and voted in favour of the most recent budget imposing tax increases.

Would it not been simpler to vote down these increases originally rather than trying to reverse a policy that he once supported?

Online consultation is discriminatory

SIR, I read with interest that Harlow Council is to consult some residents - those online - about improvements to their neighbourhood (Star, October 18). I deplore this new and increasing form of discrimination.

Having been a resident for over 50 years I believe I should also be consulted. This could be achieved by a letter delivered with the Star or by making copies available at the Civic Centre.

Few older citizens (the ones who built and developed the town) are not or do not wish to be online. Why should the council discriminate against them?

I hope the whole consultation will be restarted and every resident included.

We're being kept in the dark over homes plan

SIR, Could I use your pages to thank, on behalf of the Summers & Katherines Residents' Association, Robert Halfon for his attendance at our recent meeting in relation to our concerns over the proposed Epping Forest Council housing project known as West Summers.

It was with much shock and dismay that Mr Halfon confirmed that should West Summers go ahead, none of the 'affordable housing' would be allocated to Harlow residents and none of the rateable value of the houses or council tax would go to Harlow Council.

Yet, at Epping Forest Council's insistence, Harlow would have to endure 100 per cent of the traffic produced by 1,250 homes.

Given this information, I am astounded that we are deafened by the silence coming from those in political power within Harlow. It almost seems as if deals are being done in smoke-filled rooms.

Are we yet again being treated as mushrooms, being kept in the dark by the politicians we elect and fed on excrement?

A standing ovation was also given for the ongoing work of the local emergency services, with particular recognition given for teams involved in the Barn Mead fire tragedy.

Town chaplain Robert Findlay, who organised the awards with his wife Chris, said the evening had been a "resounding success".

"There is a wonderful community spirit in Harlow and the Heart4Harlow awards was another example of that will to serve one another," he said.

"I was really chuffed by the amount of people who attended and thrilled to be able to give out 22 crystal trophies, prepared specially by Nazeing Glass, to all our worthy winners."

He added: "I have received excellent feedback about the night so far with a lot of people asking if we will make it an annual thing. Assuming we can secure some sponsorship, that would certainly be our aim."

Town's memorial to 'digital age' pioneer

A PLAQUE commemorating the pioneering work of a Harlow scientist who played a key role in the invention of fibre-optic communications has been unveiled at the Water Gardens – more than 40 years after his death.

Alec Reeves, who passed away at the age of 70 in 1971, was part of the team headed by Sir Charles Kao which was credited with making the revolutionary discovery while working at Standard Telecommunications Laboratories in London Road.

The groundbreaking work – which also included the invention of pulse code modulation – was remembered on Friday at the unveiling of a blue plaque in Mr Reeves honour during a ceremony organised by Harlow Civic Society.

"Harlow is a town with many achievements," said society chairman and former Harlow MP Stan Newens.

By BIANCA CASTRO
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"The commemoration of a great scientist and inventor is important to remind people how wonderful Harlow is."

The plaque has been placed on a wall alongside one for Sir Charles, who was awarded the Nobel Prize for Physics in 2009.

Friday's ceremony was also attended by Harlow Council chairwoman Maggie Hulcoop, MP Robert Halfon, former MP Bill Rammell and David Robertson, who is currently working on a biography of Mr Reeves.

"Alec Reeves was not possessive of his work," Mr Robertson told the Star. "Once he'd done it and figured it all out, he would want to move on to something else."

Council looking to shake up housing list priorities

RESIDENTS have less than two weeks to have their say on the way council housing in Harlow is prioritised.

Opinions are being sought by Harlow Council as it looks to develop a new allocations policy for the town.

The demands for housing continues to increase due to a rise in the number of applicants registered and a shortage of council properties available for rent.

There are currently more than 5,000 people registered for social housing in Harlow. Every year about 1,000 new applicants join the register but only half that number of homes become available.

That situation, coupled with changes in legislation under the Localism Act, has left the council needing to review its allocation policy.

Rod Truan, the council's portfolio holder for housing, said: "With the pressure on social housing in the town continuing, we are being honest with people about what their likely chances are of getting housed."

"It's a difficult situation but with this review we have a fresh opportunity to look at who should get priority when council housing becomes available."

The survey, which closes on November 12, can be completed online at www.surveymonkey.com/s/HDCHSGAllocations. Paper copies of the survey are available by telephoning Zulfi Kiani on (01279) 446330.

SECRET MESSAGE Jrog jofruf ec ab gvb1 nuopruf? zvphoiufj

Forget e-mail, this is sea-mail

THESE days most of us send instant messages by text, email or one of the social networking sites such as Twitter or Facebook.

Of course there are still some people who prefer 'snail mail' - the old-fashioned method of writing a letter, putting it in an envelope and posting it.

But when four-year-old Jasmine Hudson sent a message while on holiday with her family in Bournemouth, little did she think it would take FIVE MONTHS to arrive.

For Jasmine put her message in a bottle which she then threw into the sea, hoping that it would reach Guernsey in the Channel Islands where her aunt lives.

It came as quite a surprise when, five months later, a letter arrived at her home in Tamworth from Barbara Richards, who found the bottle while looking for sea shells on a beach in Australia - 10,000 miles away on the other side of the world.

Jasmine had written her name,

MESSAGE RECEIVED: Barbara Richards and, inset, Jasmine Hudson

address and the date on the note in the hope someone would reply.

"I was really excited when I got a letter from Australia," she said. "I'd forgotten that I'd thrown the message in the sea. I thought it might have been eaten by a shark."

Miss Richards told reporters she found the bottle in a bed of seaweed which had washed up on the shore.

"I thought it could get broken and someone could get hurt," she said. "I had to wait until I got home to open it because we had to use a corkscrew to get the message out.

"I was just so excited when I found it because how many of us dream of finding a message on a beach?"

Jasmine's mum said: "Never in our wildest dreams did we ever think it would get all the way to Australia."

Ooops! Another customer for ChipsAway!

Every minute, someone somewhere becomes another potential customer for Adrian Port, Harlow based operator for ChipsAway International, leading 'on-the-spot' automotive paint repair specialists. Think about it. Whether it's a stone thrown up from the road, the key scraping against your car door, or an out of control shopping trolley clipping your paintwork in the car park on a busy Saturday morning – and we've all been there - chips, bumps and minor scuffs are part and parcel of being a car owner.

Unsurprising then that recent research has confirmed that the majority of the 32 million cars in the UK are in need of attention to their paintwork and that most drivers would love to find a quick, cost-effective and convenient way of repairing their minor paint damage. After all, nobody wants the expense and inconvenience of booking their car into a body shop for small jobs. Industry experts also advise that keeping car paintwork up to scratch will extend the life of your vehicle and improve its value when you eventually look to sell.

"As the AA points out, it's a smart move, to get your car repaired if you have any form of minor damage to your paintwork," advises Adrian of ChipsAway in Harlow. "Whether a scratch, scuff, chip or dent, a cosmetic repair will not only make sure your car looks good, but will seal the area of damage, making it weatherproof and prevent rust setting in. If you leave it, the rust will eventually lead to corrosion which could ultimately result in a more extensive – and expensive – repair!"

This is exactly where Adrian and ChipsAway can help. Using a unique waterborne system developed by ChipsAway Inc. in the USA, ChipsAway can offer a faster, more convenient way of repairing minor damage to automotive paintwork – and at a radically reduced cost.

Car owners no longer need to book vehicles into a body shop for days at a time to have whole panels treated simply to remove a small scratch or chip to their paintwork, Adrian operates from a fully equipped vehicle – essentially, his mobile workshop – and takes his services directly to the customer, whether a member of the public or a business.

Today ChipsAway has over 300 UK operators, between them repairing some 300,000 vehicles per year.

Reunion is the chance to turn back the clock

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

FORMER Latton Green Junior School pupils are invited to take a trip down memory lane as part of its 50th anniversary celebrations.

The Riddings Lane primary, which opened in 1962, is hosting a Latton Green Reunited event next Saturday (November 10) for all ex-staff and pupils to commemorate its milestone year.

As part of the celebrations, the school has been collecting photographs, memorabilia and personal recollections for a social history project which it is hoped will be published at the end of the year.

"We would love to hear from people who have been associated with the school in the past," said headteacher Lorna Handscomb. "We have set up an e-mail address to collect photographs and memories or people can phone the school."

"Many families have had a long association with the school and it has strong community connections. One of our staff is a former pupil and her mother has also been associated with the school for many years; their children and grandchildren all attend the school.

"Most of our teachers and support staff have lived and worked in Harlow and are proud to celebrate the strength of our community."

A number of former students have already provided the school with copies of old photographs.

"We have received pictures from the past showing the tradition of achievements in sport and music that continues to this day," said Lorna.

"These were provided by former pupil Hywel Williams, who came along with other friends from the first year of the school in 1962-3 – Susan Dunkin, Carol Pumfrett, Susan Wilson and Kim Sherlin – to visit the school last term for a special assembly."

Anyone interested in attending the reunion – which will include live music, a buffet and bar as well as tours of the building – or who is able to provide the school with memories or photographs can email them to lattongreen50thanniversary@gmail.com or call (01279) 421567.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: War memorabilia

WAR-time ration books, national identity cards and clothing books have been landing on the Nostalgia desks in recent weeks.

The trigger for these items dating back to the Second World War was an article about Harlow resident Alan Hawkins, who sent in his old ID card which he thought may be of interest to readers.

Joan Crosby, of Long Ley, was the first to pop into our office with an array of items belonging to her late husband, Dennis. "He had always kept all his old ration books so after I saw the article in the Star I thought I would dig them out," she said. "I found his National ID card, a supplementary clothing book, his old merchant navy clothing ration book for his uniform and his Post Office savings stamp book."

It was on June 1, 1941 that the Government announced clothing in Britain was to be rationed. Coupon books were issued to every person living in the United Kingdom although some items such as hats, clogs, baby clothing and second-hand garments were exempt from rationing.

Although the war ended in 1945, rationing continued until 1952.

In the same year as clothes started to be rationed, the Government brought in a new National Savings Stamp scheme to encourage individuals to save. Deposits could be made by buying stamps to the value of 6d (2½p) or 2/6d (12½p).

"I don't know why Dennis kept the stamp book all these years but I thought other people might like to see it," said Joan. "Interestingly, the stamps featured three different kings in those days."

Avis Nichols, from Roydon, also brought in old ration books and ID cards of her late husband Edward.

"He had been a Flight Lieutenant and it was nice to look through these old books and learn a few new things," she said.

"As well as his ID card I found his services clothing book and motor fuel ration books, not that he would have used the car so much then."

"You couldn't after it got dark as with all the blackouts in place and no street lighting it was just too dangerous!"

County crews vote to end fire dispute

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

THE longest-running industrial dispute in UK fire service history has finally been resolved after members of the Essex Fire Brigades Union voted to end their four-year protest against frontline cuts.

Crews have voted two-to-one to accept settlement terms negotiated and recommended by their union leaders, bringing an end to a bitter dispute that has rumbled on since 2008.

Keith Handscomb, FBU executive council member, said the breakthrough would now "lay the foundations" for rebuilding industrial relations between firefighters and Essex Fire Authority.

"Negotiators from both sides deserve credit for overcoming deeply held differences to negotiate the compromise terms needed to settle the dispute," he said.

"The challenges ahead are huge as the fire and rescue service faces the most severe cuts ever in central government funding.

"But the negotiated settlement includes written assurances from the chief fire officer to maintain the overall numbers of wholetime firefighters across Essex up to March 2015 and beyond, subject to central government funding being no worse than already projected."

He added that the settlement also included new terms and allowances for firefighters underpinned by a detailed framework for improving industrial relations.

"It's early days but, bit by bit, relations are starting to get better and so it is now up to both sides to take this opportunity to work together in facing the considerable challenges that lie ahead," he said.

Chief Fire Officer David Johnson said that while both parties acknowledged that differences in opinion would remain, it was time to draw a line under the past and look forward.

"The service will face significant financial challenges over the next couple of years and it is important for us all to focus our energies on the future and learn to work together once again to achieve the best possible outcome for Essex," he said.

"The changes that have successfully been introduced over the last four years have put us in a good position.

"Prudent financial management has enabled us to offer all Essex firefighters job security come what may, and we have a Fire Authority mandate to maintain the same number of fire stations and fire appliances with the financial resources to support those guarantees.

"Nevertheless, there is still a need to drive all unnecessary costs out and use our resources in the most efficient and effective way while maintaining the current levels of fire cover."

Fashion show gives shoppers ideas for winter wardrobes

SHOPPERS were treated to a showcase of styles hitting the high street this autumn and winter at the Harvey Centre's first-ever fashion show.

Retailers based in the town centre mall put together the best of their collections for four half-hour catwalk shows which ran throughout Saturday.

Harvey Centre manager Bryan Young, said they were delighted the event had been so popular.

"We'd like to thank the hundreds of people who came along and saw the shows," he said.

"We've had great feedback from the retailers who took part and the fashion show certainly seems to have been a popular way of highlighting our style credentials.

"By showcasing the best of the fashion available at the Harvey Centre and highlighting it in-store with our 'as seen at the fashion show' tags, we were also able to direct shoppers to the products quickly and efficiently.

"I have no doubt that we will be organising more in the future."

Make it a real corker with drop of fine wine

CHRISTMAS is a time for extravagance. You can legitimately splash out on sumptuous wines – the kind of fine wines you might only dream of at other times of the year.

Choosing Christmas wines takes planning. If you're a fan of reds, take a look at some of the show-stopping Bordeaux and Burgundies out there. Save your best ones for the main meal, whether this is lunch or dinner on Christmas Day.

Keep the lighter, fruitier ones for Boxing Day.

A bottle gives six glasses and it's a good idea to pull the corks well ahead.

Rather than serving a medley of wines on Christmas Day, stick to a couple of good ones – generally a red and a white. For large gatherings, magnums or even jeroboams are a great bet because they give an instant sense of occasion. Most fine wine merchants have a selection.

There is a lot of confusion over whether or not to decant wines. As a rule, any wine that has thrown a deposit – older vintages of fine wine, young but big-bodied reds and vintage port – should be decanted.

One trick is to place a bright light behind the bottle and pour very carefully; stopping when you see sediment has reached the neck of the bottle. Young tannic wines can also benefit from breathing, softening and opening up as they mingle with the air.

Ideally, leave your wines to rest upright for 24 hours before opening or decanting them. Room temperature can be a little high for the more delicate reds, so leave your bottles to rest in a cool corner of the house.

Most important of all, remember the old saying: the enemy of a good wine is a greater wine.

Serve your lighter and less impressive wines first and work up to the grand finale of that special bottle.

WIN Family tickets to Playhouse panto

HARLOW Playhouse is bracing itself for its biggest pantomime to date as Jack and the Beanstalk heads to town for the Christmas season.

Featuring immense special effects, sets and costumes, this new show promises a wonderful range of music and magic for all the family. And this week we are giving you the chance to win one of four family tickets to the 6pm performance on Saturday, December 8.

Star of the show is BBC children's television star Pui Fan Lee as Jack. She will be joined on stage by some of the UK's leading pantomime talent – Nicholas Collett as Dame Trott, Tom Beard as Monsieur Loyal and Kevin James as Fleshcreep.

Also in the cast are loopy JezO as Billy and beautiful songstress Natalie Douglas as Fairy Eco-Friendly, while Danielle Black – last seen playing Cinderella at the Playhouse three years ago – is Jill. Playhouse manager Scott Ramsay said: "Our pantomime audience has grown by 55 per cent over the past three years and with the way sales are going this year it looks set to be another record-breaker.

"We've pulled out all the stops to bring audiences a great cast, massive effects, and lots of tricks and laughter. There are some new twists to the story which really add to the storytelling, we've assembled a hugely talented professional cast and chorus that's larger than ever before, and joining them will be two teams of local young performers.

"Both adults and children will be enthralled by the scale of the effects. I'm not going to say more than that for now as we'll spoil the surprises we have in store, but safe to say they won't have seen anything like it before!"

To take part in the competition, all you have to do is answer this simple question:

Who will play the part of Jack in this year's Playhouse panto?

To enter, visit our website at www.harlowstar.co.uk and click on the Competitions link under the 'Newspaper' tab. Be sure to enter 'Star Playhouse panto' in the competition line or your entry will be discounted. The closing date for entries is noon on Wednesday, November 7.

Jack and the Beanstalk will open on Friday, December 7 and runs until Sunday, January 6. Ticket prices range from £9-£21 and group discounts are available.

For more information or to book tickets, call the theatre box office on (01279) 431945 or visit www.playhouseharlow.com.

WIN Pair of tickets to West End musical

WELCOME to Loserville. It's 1971 and computer geek Michael Dork and his misfit friends Lucas, Marvin and Francis are about to change the world. It's just that no-one knows it yet.

Then new girl Holly arrives in town and all of Michael's dreams seem to be coming true. Here at last is a girl with looks and brains who actually notices him.

But when rich kid Eddie discovers Holly's dark secret, he turns his back on girlfriend Leia and sets out to ruin Michael's future dreams.

Loserville is a new musical written by Elliott Davis and James Bourne. And this week we are giving you the chance to win one of five pairs of tickets to the show at the Garrick Theatre in London.

To take part in the competition, all you have to do is answer this simple question:

In which year is Loserville set?

To enter, visit our website at www.harlowstar.co.uk and click on the Competitions link under the 'Newspaper' tab. Be sure to enter 'Star Loserville' in the competition line or your entry will be discounted. The closing date for entries is noon on Wednesday, November 7.

Dickens classic is the perfect winter warmer

CHRISTMAS comes early at Harlow Playhouse next week when the theatre stages a magical new musical adaptation of A Christmas Carol.

The Charles Dickens classic will be brought to life by Talkwood Productions, a professional theatre company which has been producing first-class family entertainment for over three years.

The Watford-based group is taking the show on the road following sell-out performances in its home town last Christmas – and Playhouse audiences will be among the first to experience the magic.

Featuring a host of colourful characters, from miserly misanthrope Ebenezer Scrooge to hardworking Bob Cratchitt and his loveable son Tiny Tim, the musical production adds sparkle to Dickens' timeless tale of spiritual redemption with rousing renditions of seasonal songs.

Operations manager Geoff Bullen said the show was the perfect way to prepare for the festive period.

"This is an unbelievable opportunity for a fantastic show; it's a perfect winter warmer!" he said.

"Audience reaction has been simply overwhelming, and now people across the UK will also be able to experience this great family musical."

The show opens at the Playhouse on Wednesday (November 7) and runs until Saturday (November 10). Performances start at 7pm from Wednesday to Friday and 6pm on Saturday, with a special schools-only show at 2pm on Thursday and a 2pm matinee on Saturday.

Tickets cost from £9-£17.50 and can be purchased from The Playhouse box office on (01279) 431945 or online at www.playhouseharlow.com.

Show a tribute to ballet legend Leo

By CHRIS MOSS

A TOUCHING tribute to the vision and genius of Harlow Ballet Association founder Leo Kersley, who died earlier this year at the age of 92, will take place at Harlow Playhouse this weekend.

HBA's new show Collaborations will be dedicated to the memory of the respected dancer, choreographer and tutor.

Staged in the intimate surroundings of The Studio Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, the varied programme features intriguing collaborations with the deMerc Choir and local artist Anthea Whitworth, whose Pictures From An Exhibition will be brought to life in three mesmerising performances by the ballet school's young dancers.

The show will also feature the group's traditional Choreographic Competition and excerpts from some of the best-loved ballets in the

LEO KERSLEY

Michael Branwell, HBA's artistic director and one of Mr Kersley's first students, said the show would be a fitting tribute to his former mentor.

"Leo's funeral was a great chance for his former pupils to come from all over the world to say goodbye," he told the Star.

"It will feature dances from some of his favourite ballets in the classical repertoire, and our collaboration with the deMerc Choir will feature a performance of the Pavane by Gabriel Faure, one of Leo's favourite pieces of music.

"This is a chance for all his friends and acquaintances here in Harlow to remember him as well as appreciating the living legacy that he has left to Harlow and all the young dancers of the town."

£1,000 up for grabs in pub's search for a singer

A HARLOW pub is giving X Factor wannabes a chance to impress by taking part in a new talent show.

The Herald, in Broadley Road, is hosting heats for McMullen Brewery's 'Mac's Factor' event later this month – and wants local singers to impress punters for the chance to win a £1,000 prize.

Taking place on November 11 and 18, the auditions are open to vocalists aged 18 and over.

Two winners will go through to the semi-final on November 23, where the judges will decide who has made it through to the grand final at The Harrier pub in Hatfield on November 29.

Herald landlord Gary Bellamy said: "This is a great chance for local singers to get recognition for their talents and be in with a chance of scooping a big cash prize.

"Since becoming landlord I've been looking at ways we can get the community to re-engage with the pub and hopefully 'Mac's Factor' will prove to be a big hit."

For more information, drop into the pub on Broadley Road or email Gary@herald.harlow.com or mcmullens.co.uk.

SILENT HILL: REVELATION 3D certificate 15 1h34m

MICHAEL J Bassett directs this sequel to the 2006 horror film Silent Hill, based on the popular video game series.

Heather Mason (Adelaide Clemens) and her father Harry (Sean Bean) have been on the run from dark forces for most of their lives.

The young woman doesn't fully understand the chilling truth behind her fate until, on the eve of her 18th birthday, she endures terrifying nightmares and her father disappears without trace.

Soon after she discovers she isn't who she thinks she is and reluctantly ventures into an alternate dimension and the spooky town of Silent Hill, where she encounters Leonard (Malcolm McDowell) and Claudia Wolf (Carrie-Anne Moss).

There she learns that her father is actually Christopher Da Silva, whose wife Rosa (Radha Mitchell) ventured into this hellish realm to cure her daughter's nightmares.

WITH James Bond (Daniel Craig) reportedly killed in action, section chief M (Dame Judi Dench) pens an obituary as a political storm rages around her. A database of MI6 assets has fallen into the wrong hands, compromising undercover agents around the world.

This dereliction of duty puts M and Chief of Staff Bill Tanner (Rory Kinnear) in the firing line and they are summoned to Westminster to appear before a committee including the new chairman of the Intelligence and Security Committee, Mallory (Ralph Fiennes), and ambitious rival Clair Dowar (Helen McCrory).

While M fends off sustained attacks on her reputation, news filters through that Bond has survived and M engages her physically bruised agent to track down menacing cyber terrorist Raoul Silva (Javier Bardem).

Working alongside Q (Ben Whishaw) and field agent Eve (Naomie Harris), Bond traverses the globe in search of Silva, crossing paths with the mysterious Severine (Berenice Marlohe).

ARGO certificate 15, 2h

GRIPPING thriller based on real-life events following the 1979 storming of the US embassy in Tehran.

When militants break through the barricades and hold 52 Americans hostage, six members of staff – Bob Anders (Tate Donovan), Joe Stafford (Scoot McNairy), Kathy Stafford (Kerry Bishe), Mark Lijek (Christopher Denham), Cora Lijek (Clea DuVall) and Lee Schatz (Roy Cochrane) – escape to the nearby residence of the Canadian ambassador Ken Taylor (Victor Garber), and hide in a basement crawl space while they await news from the outside world.

CIA extractor Tony Mendez (Ben Affleck) concocts an elaborate scheme to rescue the sextet from the danger zone, posing as a film producer who has come to Iran to scout for locations for a sci-fi epic called Argo. The idea is that the six members of stranded embassy staff will pose as his crew and they will leave the country together under false passports.

Bona fide Hollywood producer Lester Siegel (Alan Arkin) and make-up artist John Chambers (John Goodman) throw their weight behind Argo to give the plan credence but when it comes to the crunch all of Tony's smooth talking might not be enough to save the embassy staff from the Iranian death squads.

How Long Has It Been On The Market?

One of the first things a buyer will ask an estate agent when offered a property is "How long has it been on the market?", and with good reason. Buying a property is a large transaction and it takes courage to commit to undertake such an apparently huge decision - often with very little support other than pure instinct.

One of the most persuasive and apparently reliable indications as to the suitability of a property is to check out whether other people have expressed an interest. There is great comfort in knowing that you are not the only one who would like to buy the property.

Once people hear that others have expressed an interest, then everyone seems to want the property, as the power of 'social proof' kicks in. This competition can often stimulate a quick sale at a high price, and usually occurs when a property is attractively priced in relation to other properties available for sale and is new to market.

Of course the opposite is also true. When the price of a property is overly ambitious, the excitement that should surround a property that is new on the market is reduced, and it can begin to go stale. This is when nobody has made an offer and the property is seen to be repeatedly advertised. When buyers find out that it is no longer new on the market they think "Well nobody else wanted it - perhaps we are making a mistake."

So our advice would be to position your property as one of the best available in its price range from day one. This will prompt interest and encourage asking price offers from qualified buyers. Under your agent's advice, you should then have a choice of buyer, resulting in a fast, reliable, sale at the highest price the market will pay.

Bentley lives life in the fast lane

By Matt Joy

WE would all like something for nothing, but few of us are sufficiently naïve to think this happens on a regular basis.

You could argue that Bentley's Continental GT Speed doesn't come for nothing either, not with a list price of £151,000. But even at the super-luxurious end of the scale you can now have more power, torque and performance with improved fuel economy and emissions.

The second-generation Continental GT has been with us since early 2011 and following the deeply impressive V8 version early in the year, Bentley has turned its attention back to the W12.

With the GT Speed you now get a monstrous 616bhp from the 6.0-litre 12-cylinder engine, up 49bhp over the regular Continental GT. Torque is also up 74lb.ft to 590lb.ft. These are genuine supercar numbers however you measure it.

As before, all that power is fed to all four wheels with a 60/40 split biased towards the rear, but the W12 now gains the impressive eight-speed automatic transmission used on the V8. Bentley claims it offers faster up and down shifts and, combined with the power boost, improves acceleration times.

Although the substantial brakes remain the same (with the option of even larger

Fact File

Bentley Continental GT Speed

£151,000

ENGINE: 6.0-litre petrol unit producing 616bhp
TRANSMISSION: Eight-speed automatic driving all four wheels
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 205mph, 0-62mph in 4.1 secs
ECONOMY: 19.5mpg combined
CO₂ RATING: 338g/km

carbon ceramic discs) the chassis has also been significantly revised. Springs and dampers have been tweaked, the car rides 10mm lower than before and both the suspension bushes and anti-roll bars have been updated.

There are visual enhancements, too. The giant 21-inch wheels are the most obvious and are standard on the Speed, while the front grilles are a smoked chrome rather than the more obvious brightwork. At the rear there are 'rifled' exhaust pipes, while the new chrome lamp bezels are now standard across the GT range.

Climb inside the Speed and you are met by the same sumptuous cabin as you get in a regular GT, but with the optional Mulliner pack as standard. There are virtually limitless combinations of leather, wood and aluminium finishes, even down to the colour of the stitching. It's the kind of interior you wouldn't think twice about spending several hours in, which is exactly how a Grand Tourer should be.

Prod the starter button and the mighty W12 fires with a hearty but muted rumble. Slot the chunky aluminium shifter into drive and the Speed rolls forward with no discernable effort on that vast wave of torque.

Comfort is the key word. The combined noise from the tyres and the engine is faint, and certainly with the suspension in comfort mode the ride is surprisingly good. Surprising because this is a big car on big wheels with definite sporting aspirations, but the changes that have been made underneath haven't hurt its ability to smooth out the poorest roads. Acceleration is always available, even with the merest squeeze of the accelerator. The eight-speed automatic inherited from the GT V8 is smoother than the previous gearbox, and although the multitude of ratios means it will flick quickly up and down there is so much torque and such a silken shift action you barely notice what it's up to. The Speed is so comfortable and effortless it makes you want to cross whole countries in a single bound, simply because you can. But this is only half the story because you can change the Speed's demeanour by simply shifting the gearbox into S mode. Do that and the shift pattern and speed changes, the exhaust opens up for full noise and the throttle response sharpens, too. Now it leaps forwards as you press the accelerator and the burble from the exhaust becomes a distinguished roar.

And then there's the performance. The sheer physics dictate that an enormous amount of power is required to hurl this 2.3 tonne car from 0-60mph in 4.0 seconds, and one prolonged punch of the throttle is all that's required to confirm it. The Speed simply bounds forwards with utter relentlessness, even past 100mph, and it won't let up until you run out of bravery.

The test route included many of miles of derestricted German autobahn and despite weather and traffic stopping play, several runs beyond 170mph proved the point: the Speed is a devastatingly fast machine.

It carries on in the same vein when you reach a bend. The brakes were tested severely from those high speeds and brought it down very quickly and without drama. Pitch it into a bend and it hides its size well, feeling like a much smaller car.

Perhaps the most surprising fact about the Speed is that the previous version outsold the standard W12 in almost every year it was on sale. That suggests that more is certainly more for Bentley customers, and the completeness and breadth of ability the new Speed shows will mean they'll love this even more. Lottery winners and aristocrats alike have a new dream machine.

Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency

End of the road
for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Inconsistent Hawks beaten by Jokers again

HARLOW Hawks paid for an inconsistent display as they slipped to a 77-62 defeat at home to Ware Jokers in division one of the Herts Basketball League.

Hawks' Russ Allan enjoyed a great first quarter with a number of scores and at one stage the hosts led by seven points.

Shab Niaz also scored two three pointers for the Hawks by the halfway stage, but the Ware team rallied strongly and enjoyed a number of turnovers to make vital scores.

Their recovery saw them go two points ahead (32-30) by half-time.

Ware then built on their lead in the third quarter.

They got some easy scores from fast breaks and were leading by at least 10 points when the last quarter started.

Any doubt about the result was virtually settled as Ware built up a 20-point margin.

The hosts fought back towards the end, but it was too little too late as they went down by 15 points.

Key six-pointer awaits Harlow

HARLOW 2, ROMFORD 2
EAST MEN'S HOCKEY LEAGUE, DIVISION FOUR SOUTH EAST

AN important six-pointer will be faced by Harlow when they take on Maldon & Little Baddow away this Saturday.

Maldon are just two points behind Harlow in the table, but have a game in hand over James Smith's men.

Harlow are fifth and four points adrift of the leaders Wapping III after the former were held to a home draw by Romford five days ago.

Early action in the Romford clash saw Harlow's Craig Cholerton go close early on before the visitors went ahead from a well-worked penalty corner routine after 15 minutes.

Harlow pulled level through a penalty corner of their own five minutes later.

Captain Smith's shot was saved by the goalkeeper before James Munro fired in the rebound for his fourth goal in four matches.

The rest of the first period was a midfield battle and Romford restored their lead in the second half.

Sloppy marking allowed a Romford midfielder room to shoot from the top of the 'D' with goalkeeper Adam Johnson unsighted.

Again Harlow pushed on and levelled on 55 minutes.

Smith struck the ball towards the far post, picking out the run of Kirk who applied the finish from close range.

Harlow came close to getting a winner three times in the last 10 minutes.

This included a strike from Kirk which hit a post. This came from a rebound after Smith's initial shot from the top of the 'D' was brilliantly saved.

HARLOW: Johnson, Castle, Plumridge, Grace, Cox, Krzoska, Smith (c), Cholerton, Mace, Kirk, Munro.

Six appeals to counties after Rams call-ups

SIX girls from Harlow Rugby Club have been selected for county age group squads.

Shannon Andrews, Aimee Jones, Jamie Marshall, Elise Prudence and Daisey Thomson have been picked to play for Essex U-15s, while Katie Boggas was chosen to play for Hertfordshire U-15s.

They were picked after county trials at Thurrock and Welwyn rugby clubs.

These girls are part of the Ram Gorse age group which have joined forces with Bishop's Stortford to play as a combined team in a Hertfordshire League.

The U-15s will also join forces with their Stortford counterparts to take part in the RFU Girls U-15 South East League.

For the last year the Elizabeth Way club has been building up its girls' rugby section.

Younger girls are already provided for in the very successful mini rugby section and those aged 18 and upwards in the very successful women's team.

Harlow Girls Rugby Manager Tracey Lee has been involved with a number of local clubs in Hertfordshire to provide a competition and training base.

Meanwhile, Harlow's junior girls took part in a training session at Bishop's Stortford with England flanker

The club is keen for more U-18 girls to join. Training is on Monday evenings from 7pm-8.30pm and any girls aged 11-17 are welcome to try out rugby.

Penguins are victorious in national meet

HARLOW Penguins swimmers rose to the occasion when they won round one of the National Arena Swimming League (London division three).

The eight-club event at Clissold Park Leisure Centre in Hackney was won by Harlow Penguins with 288 points, ahead of second-placed Barking & Dagenham (276).

Harlow sent their strongest squad, consisting of 26 swimmers, and they were up against much larger clubs which also included Harrow and Enfield.

However, excellent performances came in the individual swims and team relays to ensure overall victory.

Penguins head coach Martin Stringer said: "I have had many highlights to look back on in all my time in swimming. This ranks as up there as one of the best."

"The team has made such a fantastic start to the beginning of the season. We already have a number of swimmers qualifying for county and regional finals as well as one National swimmer."

The Harlow Penguins squad consisted of:- Kyle Panton, Darren Tucker, Ellis Singleton, Charlotte Barton, Jasmine Hind, Amy Edwards, Kirsty Vears, Rebecca Vears, Mason Arnold, Tomas Stevens, Charlie Stevens, Chloe Mitchell, Olivia Holleyman, Celeste Andrew, Phoebe Jewell, Bradley Veitch, Connor Porter, Filip Kusnir, Jamie Rushworth, Hannah Bishop, Kate Henshall, Jade Hopkinson, Owen Stringer, Silvester Havrillay, Kai Boggan, William Ray.

Results: 1st Harlow Penguins 288 pts; 2nd Barking & Dagenham 276; 3rd Brompton 256; 4th Enfield Swim Squad B 255; 5th Bethnal Green Sharks 251; 6th Hackney Aquatics 212; 7th Verulam 167; 8th Borough of Harrow B 89.

Narrow loss for Clapton

UPPER Clapton RFC were unable to capitalise on a good start and slipped to a 15-10 defeat at Billericay in Essex League One on Saturday.

Winger James Hack scored a try for Clapton after five minutes following good build-up through several phases of play. The conversion was missed.

However, Billericay scored a converted try and a penalty to put themselves 10-5 ahead at the break.

The hosts scored an unconverted try from a rolling maul five minutes after half-time.

With two minutes left lock Dean McFarlane crashed over to score Clapton's second try.

This ensured the Thornwood Common-based got a bonus point for losing by seven or fewer points.

Clapton are fifth in the table.

Not a gr-eight night for Hawks!

>> Cont'd from back

But it was 6-0 on 61 minutes when O'Toole thumped home his second of the night from the edge of the area. O'Toole had a shot saved and Wright rattled a post on 67 minutes as hungry U's looked for more goals.

However, hope was on the horizon as the small travelling army of Harlow fans had something to celebrate as Jeff Hammond made it 6-1 on 76 minutes. Hammond ran onto Gary Bowes' pass to slot coolly past Colchester keeper Pentney from close range.

This sparked a catchy song from the travelling crowd singing 'We're gonna win 7-6!'

But the hosts were not done and O'Toole completed his hat-trick with a fine drilled finish from the edge of the area on 85 minutes.

The rout was completed on 87 minutes when Wright grabbed his second of the game from close range after Sears' low cross.

Strong show seals win for U-16s

A STRONG all-round display gave Harlow U-16s a 42-19 victory over Chingford in a friendly at home on Sunday. Harlow's tries were scored by Jack Christy (2), Connor Fry (2), Charlie Robinson, Daniel De Franca and Shakur Dixon-Chennis.

Robinson kicked two conversions and a penalty. This victory came after Harlow U-16 won 36-0 at Stanford-Le-Hope in their opening Essex League division three game. Meanwhile, Harlow U-14s drew 12-12 against Finchley in a home friendly. Harlow trailed 12-0 at one stage. However, the hosts bounced back through a James Napier try and Jack Snell conversion before Mason Sharp scored an unconverted try.

Fightback puts Harlow on rack

HARLOW TOWN 2, ROMFORD 3 RYMAN LEAGUE, DIVISION ONE NORTH

AN 89th-minute goal from Romford's Paul Clayton completed a stunning turn around in fortunes as Harlow Town slipped to a harrowing home defeat.

The Hawks led 2-0 after just 25 minutes on Saturday, but Romford capitalised on defensive errors as they fought back to steal a game the hosts should have won.

Harlow forward Piers Wixon told the Star: "It was gutting. We played good football at times and I felt we deserved something from the game but we made mistakes."

The hosts were without full-back Mark Taylor (calf strain) and centre-half Amin Ibrahim (thigh strain), but Hawks boss Danny Chapman recalled Donny Barnard after more than two months out with a groin injury.

He came into central defence, while midfielder Albert Levett was used as an emergency right-back.

Harlow went close on 16 minutes when Wixon's shot from a Jordan Gill cross clipped a post.

The Hawks went ahead on 22 minutes. Romford keeper Atu Ngoy spilled a Hector Mackie free-kick and there was a scramble before Gary Bowes fired home from 10 yards.

Thomas Davie doubled the advantage for Harlow, after cutting inside and smashing a shot into the top corner on 25 minutes.

Harlow failed to convert more pressure before they conceded two goals in quick succession before the break.

Hussein Isa's penalty came on 45 minutes after Barnard, so resolute up to that point, needlessly fouled Tom Richardson.

Then a neat free-kick routine saw a cross spilled by keeper Bertrand Bossu and Nick Reynolds tapped home two minutes into injury-time to level the score at 2-2.

Wixon said: "We dominated the first half. The last five minutes went wrong. They had not created a lot of good chances."

Romford left-back Joe Oates was lucky not to get a second booking on 50 minutes when he fouled Hawks striker Jeff Hammond, but referee Andrew Parker only warned him.

Wixon said: "It happens in football. Sometimes they let things go. Refs like to keep 11 men on the field, but you like to see justice being done."

Clayton grabbed the late goal when he headed home a cross from substitute Lewis Francis to continue Harlow's depressing home run.

Wixon added: "We had more possession in the second half, but we did not have a massive threat."

Rams Up beat after crushing high-fliers

THE Rams' steady improvement finally came to fruition when they chalked up their first win of the season.

Harlow's victory at Upminster came after three narrow defeats and two heavy losses at the very start of the campaign.

The visitors scored four tries to gain a bonus point against a team who before Saturday's clash were second in the table.

Despite Harlow's bright start, the hosts took the lead when they spread the ball wide for a 10th-minute try that was converted.

The visitors responded almost immediately. Good work from prop Danny Stonehouse preceded the ball going loose before full back Rob Mackie touched down an unconverted try.

Both sides had chances before Harlow scored their second try on 32 minutes.

An eight-man move from a five-metre scrum from the home line allowed number eight Paul Eynon to gather the ball and crash over for a try.

Danny Smith slotted over an excellent conversion from out wide and against the wind.

Shortly after, the Rams conceded a penalty which was kicked but Harlow led 12-10 at half-time.

After the break, Upminster had the slope in their favour and went 13-12 ahead from a penalty after a Harlow infringement.

The Rams battled back and scored the key try midway through the second half.

Slick play from Rhys Powell and Eynon enabled Rams skipper Shaun Roberts to commit the last defender and pass to centre Jamie Fricker to run in and touch down.

Smith kicked the conversion and the visitors led 19-13.

The next 10 minutes were strongly contested and a long drop goal attempt by Smith fell just short before he slotted a penalty.

Any doubt about the result was ended on 78 minutes. Mackie got the ball 10 yards from the line and ran to the line and, despite a tap tackle, was just able to stretch out and touch the ball over for the try.

Smith slotted the conversion.

Rams skipper Shaun Roberts told the Star: "We were very pleased. We had come close to winning in the previous three games which we should have won. It was a complete performance on Saturday. The front row were outstanding which gave us a great platform. We totally dominated them in the set-pieces."

"We just need to kick on from here and make sure that this is just not a one-off and get away from the bottom."

HARLOW: Mackie, Feasey, Fricker, Dobson, Drake, Smith, Powell, Cunningham, Bolt, Stonehouse, Unwin, Twiner, Roberts (c), James, Eynon. Subs not used: Wright, Clark, Webb.

Wixon sure Town can bounce back

PIERS Wixon is confident lowly Harlow Town can bounce back when they visit close neighbours Cheshunt in Ryman League division one north this Saturday.

The Hawks are in 19th spot in the 22-team table, while the Ambers have started the campaign better and are in ninth spot.

PIERS WIXON

Harlow will also have to pick themselves up after the 8-1 hammering against League One club Colchester in the Essex Senior Cup.

The Harlow forward, pictured above, said: "If we play like we can, I am 100 per cent confident we can get a result. The football is getting better and things are better than they were five or six weeks ago."

"We do have injuries, but we still can do well. Injuries are a part and parcel of football."

Wixon is aware of the fans' frustration about the losses and the absence of wins as the Hawks have struggled, mainly at home.

He said: "They are paying good money and want to see results. They support us well. Things will get better and if we can get one win that will help the momentum."

"We have a good group of lads. We can then climb the table and get to the play-offs."

Midfielder Hector Mackie will miss the Cheshunt match as he serves a one-match ban after the red card he picked up following two bookings in the 4-1 defeat at Grays Athletic 12 days ago.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman hopes to bring in a new full-back before Saturday's clash.

Harlow then host Chatham Town in the league on Tuesday.

Steve's silver at Tiptree 10

RUNNING

STEVE Murtagh put in another fantastic performance to claim silverware at the Tiptree 10-mile race.

Sunday's event doubled up as the British Masters 10-mile Championships in which the Harlow Athletic Club member claimed a silver medal in the veteran 45 category.

Murtagh was seventh overall from 476 finishers and set a personal best (PB) time of 55 minutes and 54 seconds.

This is also a new Harlow Running Club Vet 45 record.

John Tennant followed Murtagh. He was in 90th position in one hour, 8 mins and 47 secs.

At the BUPA Great South Run (10-mile race) in Portsmouth, Harlow's Nikki Martin came 11,430th from around 25,000 entrants in 1:43.09.

It was her first race at this distance.

Meanwhile, Terry Pike clocked a PB of 1:57.21 in the London Run to the Beat Half Marathon.

Paul Schroder (PB) and Wendy Spring finished together in 1:59.01 in this race.

Other Harlow RC results: London Run to the Beat Half Marathon: Jade Gillespie, 2:55:18. London Kilomathon (16 miles): Linda Hawkins, 3:00:34.

GREETINGS: Madeleine Bailey, left, and Elise Bailey with Great Britain London 2012 Olympian Jo Pavey

Meeting with Olympian a Great day for sisters

YOUNGSTERS from Harlow Athletic Club enjoyed a memorable weekend when they met Great Britain's 2012 Olympics finalist Jo Pavey. Madeleine Bailey (7) and her sister Elise (12) chatted with the international athlete and posed for the pictures with her in Portsmouth, Hampshire. Pavey, who turned 39 last month, came seventh in both the 5,000metre and 10,000m finals at the London Olympics. Her fantastic achievements were perhaps overshadowed by Mo Farah, who won gold for the Great Britain men in these distances. Pavey started both the children's races on Saturday, the day before the 10-mile BUPA Great South Run. The Bailey sisters' mother Gina, who is a coach at Harlow Athletic Club, said: "It was great meeting with Jo, who posed for photos with us and even wrote a special message for all the members of Harlow AC." Henry Moore School student Madeleine came ninth in the 3-8 year olds one-mile race. She competed against more than 300 other girls and clocked a superb time of 7 minutes and 14 seconds. In the mini race the runners could be accompanied by their parents and Madeleine was accompanied by her mum Gina. Elise, who attends Leventhorpe School in Sawbridgeworth, did not compete because of a knee injury. In the 12-15 years boys 2.5km race, Madeleine's older brother Joseph Bailey (14), ran against 234 other boys and finished in joint 18th place with two other boys in a close sprint finish. His time was 8 mins 24 secs. This came after a tough couple of years struggling with injury. All three children are Harlow AC members, where their father Paul is the manager of the cross country team. Pavey competed in the main event the following day, winning the 10-mile road race against a field of international athletes in a time of 53.01.

Plastic, fantastic?

HTFC consider artificial pitch

HAWKS chairman John Barnett revealed the club is considering following the lead of Ryman division one south side Maidstone United and installing a 3G artificial pitch to improve its long-term finances.

Barnett, 70, is determined that the Barrows Farm club's facilities be let out more so that more money can be injected into the team.

He said the club are in negotiations with a possible investor to get a 3G pitch laid.

Barnett declined to name the possible investor, but said: "We are in the latter stages with regard to a pitch being laid. It would need no groundsman.

"And, apart from Christmas, you could hire the pitch out for 360 days a year for schools and other teams. Other sports like hockey could be played on it. It would last for 10 or 15 years."

He added: "It would cost serious money. However, money would come into the club. It is the way forward for the club.

JOHN BARNETT

"It does cost a lot to keep our stadium and to get a half decent side out."

Barnett cited Maidstone as an example of a team which has gone down this road. This pitch was installed in the summer and cost £400,000.

He claimed: "There used to be 120 people coming to games there and now there are 1,300 coming to their games."

Barnett could not give a timescale as to when this would happen.

He added: "We could ground-share if need be, with another club."

Meanwhile, on the pitch the Harlow chairman reiterated the support of chief executive Tom Cunningham for manager Danny Chapman.

The team have endured a torrid time in Ryman division one north this term, and remain in the bottom four.

However, they have suffered with a series of injuries to key players, especially defenders.

Barnett stressed that this season would be one of consolidation, but he hopes the club can go for promotion again in the 2013-14 campaign.

He said: "We have had experienced players out and we are building a side together. We could get into the top eight and then really go for it next year. I would be surprised if we did not get promotion.

"Danny Chapman was great as a player and has a good character. I am one million per cent behind him."

COLCHESTER
UTD 8,
HARLOW TN 1
ESSEX SENIOR CUP,
3rd round

LEAGUE One side Colchester United put Harlow Town to the sword to march into the fourth round of the Essex Senior Cup on Tuesday evening.

Colchester started with eight players with first team experience including Republic of Ireland striker Clinton Morrison and ex-West Ham star Freddie Sears and the side in total had more than 1,000 first team appearances between them.

The hosts took the lead after three minutes when John-Joe O'Toole slotted in from Drey Wright's pass.

It was 2-0 on 17 minutes when Andy Bond scored with a remarkable strike from 35 yards out which gave Hawks keeper Bert Bossu no chance.

Sears made it 3-0 when he steered a precise shot into the far corner from 15 yards to put the U's further in control on 23 minutes.

The ex-Hammer then scored his second goal from Morrison's lay-off on 25 minutes. Bossu made a good save from O'Toole from close range two minutes before the break.

But less than sixty seconds later it was 5-0 as Wright tapped in from Sears' low cross. Harlow boss Danny Chapman introduced substitute keeper Ryohei Tamai at half-time and he made excellent saves from Drey Wright and Sears (57 minutes) in the second half.
